 [20-46127] FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ACT REQUEST - CLARK.pdf
141K

Dear Mr. Clark,

This is in response to your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request regarding unrepatriated United States Prisoners of War (POWs) from the Korean War. Our office was made aware of your request on June 26, 2020. For your reference, this request has been assigned case number [20-46127]. This response pertains to requests 1-16 listed in your inquiry, which refers to the records within the holdings of the Textual Reference Branch at Archives 2.

The National Archives is the repository for the permanently valuable non-current records of the Federal Government. Although only 1-3% of the records created by the Federal Government are transferred to the National Archives, our holdings consist of hundreds of thousands of records, the vast majority of which are not name-searchable. NARA maintains the files of each agency within a Record Group and keeps the files arranged in the filing schemes used by the transferring agency. While some files were indexed before they were transferred to NARA, many were not. The vast majority of records in our holdings are not described at the item/document level and identifying specific documents or specific information requires extensive research that we are not staffed to perform.

The National Archives has available finding aids relating to the topic of your request. Reference Information Paper #102 Records Relating to American Prisoners of War and Missing-in-Action Personnel from the Korean War and During the Cold War Era provides descriptions of over 190 series that provide information about American POWs and servicemen listed as missing in action for the Korean War and the Cold War era (excluding Vietnam, which is covered in a separate publication). Reference Information Paper #103 The Korean War provides over 39 series descriptions of records that provide information about the Korean War, including records on American POWs and those missing-in-action.

Your request for records is overly broad and does not give us enough specificity to retrieve the records you are requesting from among the billions of pages of documents in our custody. Below are recommendations for each of your numbered requests on researching within each record group identified.

Most series listed below are Unrestricted, meaning they are open and available for public research. Series that are Restricted Partly contain withdrawal sheets in place of the classified documents in the otherwise open folders that give information necessary for a researcher to make mandatory declassification review or FOIA requests to gain access to the records. As you included a number of withdrawal sheets in your FOIA request, you are aware that you will need to view the open records and identify the specific withdrawal sheets for the records for which you would like to request declassification. Archival material can be housed in either an "archival box" or a "FRC box." When the number of boxes is referenced below, it is likely referencing archival boxes, but there is the possibility that it could reference FRC boxes. We cannot make that determination with certainty, however, without physically viewing each of the boxes. For your reference, we estimate that an archival box contains approximately 800 pages and one FRC box contains approximately 2500 pages.

*****

Requests 1-3 – Records related to Moore, Bibb, and Zimmerlee

As mentioned above, the vast majority of records in our holdings are not described at the item/document level, rendering broad searches by name ineffective and unreasonable. Rather, we suggest researching within specific series in record groups, as identified below, or as identified within the aforementioned Reference Information Papers.

Request 4 – Records from RG 263 – CIA Records<sup>1</sup>

RG 263 National Intelligence Surveys: <https://catalog.archives.gov/id/1183056>

RG 554 General Records, 8/12/1949 - 7/8/1954

<https://catalog.archives.gov/id/7348011>

This series consists of a wide variety of records collected by the Prisoner of War Division and a predecessor organization. Included are many newspaper clippings from "Stars and Stripes," the "Nippon Times," and other periodicals, reporting on prisoner of war (POW) issues, including the May 1952 prison riot on Koje Island, Korea; copies of the 1949 Geneva Convention articles relevant to the treatment of prisoners of war; a list of American POWs created by Eighth U.S. Army Korea (EUSAK); a list of recovered POWs; policies and lesson plans developed by the Provost Marshal General school concerning POW camp administration; summaries of some December 1950 interviews of American soldiers concerning reported POWs; a draft copy of a 1951 "Special Report to the United Nations Relative to the United Nations Prisoners of War in the Hands of the Enemy," correspondence, and other records. Unrestricted. 1 box.

RG 554 Prisoner of War Rosters, 1950 - 1953

<https://catalog.archives.gov/id/7348045>

This series primarily consists of records created by the Provost Marshal, Far East Command or the Provost Marshal, United Nations Command, but later maintained by the division. Included are rosters of United Nations (UN) military personnel believed to be in enemy hands as of December 1951, other undated rosters of UN prisoners of war (POW), deceased, liberated, confirmed or unconfirmed POWs; lists compiled by the International Committee of the Red Cross; lists of identified UN and American atrocity victims; and other records. Related correspondence is included. Unrestricted. 1 box.

RG 554 Records Relating to American Prisoners of War, 10/1/1950 - 3/18/1954

<https://catalog.archives.gov/id/7321605>

This series consists of records relating to the identification and recovery of American and United Nations (UN) prisoners of war (POWs) during and after the Korean War. Included are transcripts of interviews with former POWs regarding the status of other POWs; lists of soldiers who were held captive by the Chinese during the Korean War or died in captivity, some of them compiled by the International Committee of the Red Cross; burial reports; rosters of "punch" (non-battle related missing personnel) cases; returnee reports of POWs who were not released or refused repatriation; interrogation reports of POWs repatriated in Operation Little Switch and Operation Big Switch; summaries of interrogations; radio intercepts of communist news publications relating to POWs; radio messages relating to the armistice agreement and atrocities; news releases; and lists of letters sent to the office by family members of POWs. Many original photographs, taken by Associated Press photographer Frank Noel, of American prisoners captive in a North Korean prison camp are included. Although these records were maintained by the Casualty Division, most were created by other offices within the United Nations Command, Japan Logistical Command, or Far East Command. Unrestricted. 2 boxes.

RG 554 Change of Casualty Status Reports Relating to U.S. and United Nations Military Personnel Held as Prisoners of War, 1950 - 1953

<https://catalog.archives.gov/id/7348069>

This series consists of reports of change of casualty status for captured U.S. and United Nations military personnel during the Korean War. Reports contain the name, rank, service number, unit, casualty control number, prison camp location, and date of status change for each individual service member. Correspondence to and from relatives of the service member is also included. Unrestricted. 1 box.

RG 554 Annotated Prisoner of War Rosters, 12/18/1951 - 9/19/1953

<https://catalog.archives.gov/id/7329898>

This series consists of two copies of the December 18, 1951 roster of United Nations military personnel held as prisoners of war (POW) during the Korean War; the list was compiled in the communist prison camps. Rosters include the name, rank, service number, unit, and camp location for each POW. The second copy is heavily annotated with marginalia indicating the postwar status of each POW. A statistical table showing the number of POWs per country, and the number repatriated for each country, is also included. Unrestricted. 1 box.

RG 554 Affidavits from Former Prisoners of War and Related Records, 1950 - 1953

<https://catalog.archives.gov/id/7329825>

This series consists of affidavits from former Allied prisoners of war (POW) taken captive during the Korean War, and related records. The affidavits contain basic identifying information for the interviewed soldier and his recollections of other prisoners he saw or knew of in enemy camps. A few war crimes questionnaires are included. Related records include letters of transmittal of affidavits, memorandums, lists of POWs known or believed to be in enemy camps, newspaper articles, propaganda material, and other records used to determine the status of POWs. A photograph depicts a group of American prisoners of war from Pennsylvania in a Korean camp; they are identified as William Baker of Bucks County, Philip Aaronson of Harrisburg, Robert E. Meyers of Greencastle, James Veneris of Vandergrift, Wally A. Millar of Pittsburgh, Cassidy Boyd of West Lenore, Richard W. Krepps of Belle Vernon; and James L. Hill, Joe W. Howard, Gilbert Brook, Noland F. Crawford, Lorn Hemphill, all from the Philadelphia area. Unrestricted. 1 box.

RG 554 Transcripts and Related Records Pertaining to Radio Peking Broadcasts Made by U.S. Prisoners of War, 1/8/1951 - 8/20/1953

<https://catalog.archives.gov/id/7324011>

This series consists primarily of transcripts of radio messages broadcast by American prisoners of war (POW), intended for their families, during the Korean War. Also known as "Peking Intercepts," the messages were recorded on wire at POW camps in North Korea by representatives of the Chinese Peace Committee and broadcast by Radio Peking. Each transcript contains the date of broadcast, date of transcription, and the name, rank, and home address of the prisoner who read the message. The 1951 file of "Peking Intercepts" includes transcripts, memorandums, and forms relating to the verification of POW status from the messages. Many numbered transcripts are apparently missing from this series. The records in this series were created by the Japanese Liaison Section, G-2, Far East Command, and maintained by the Casualty Division. Unrestricted. 2 boxes.

RG 554 Returnee Reports on the Deaths of American Prisoners of War in Korea, 8/1953 - 9/1953

<https://catalog.archives.gov/id/7329823>

This series primarily consists of completed forms AFPE-545 (OT), returnee reports on the death of an individual in captured status during the Korean War. The forms record information such as the name, rank, service number, branch of service, unit, death and burial data, and family information for the deceased soldier, as well as identifying information for the returnee who witnessed the death. These reports relate only to U.S. Navy, Marine Corps, and Air Force personnel. Included are various lists of names of American prisoners of war (POW) believed to be dead, along with their ranks, service numbers, and status, including many Army personnel. Unrestricted. 1 box.

RG 554 Rosters of Military Personnel Missing in Action during the Korean War, 1/1951 - 2/1954

<https://catalog.archives.gov/id/7330337>

This series consists primarily of rosters of U.S. military personnel who were missing in action (MIA) during the Korean War. The rosters provide the rank, service number, and status dates for each individual. Included is a 1951 roster from Far East Command, U.S. Navy and Marine Corps rosters for 1951 and 1953, overall rosters of MIAs for 1952 and 1953, and a 1952 supplemental list of prisoners of war (POW) not accounted for, whose names were submitted to the communists. Some rosters are annotated, and some British and Australian personnel are also listed. Related correspondence is included. Unrestricted. 1 box.

RG 554 General Correspondence, 5/15/1951 - 7/14/1954

<https://catalog.archives.gov/id/7323816>

This series consists of correspondence, disposition forms, memorandums, and incoming and outgoing radio messages. Subjects include the interrogation of returnees, prisoner of war (POW) exchanges, and the status of POWs unaccounted for at the end of the Korean War. Unrestricted. 1 box.

RG 554 Korean War Casualty Rosters, 10/25/1953 - 11/24/1953

<https://catalog.archives.gov/id/7323964>

This series consists of several rosters created and maintained by the Casualty Division after the Korean War. Roster B lists personnel currently missing in action (MIA) or in captured (CAP) status. Roster D is a "Special Casualty Report for [the United Nations] War Crimes Commission (RCS A-856)," which lists personnel returned to military control (RMC) from MIA, CAP, or prisoner of war (POW) status. Roster G lists personnel who died in enemy hands (DIE). Rosters K1, K2, L1, and L2 are RMC reports, listing personnel in MIA or CAP status who were mentioned in reports of RMC personnel. All rosters include the service number, grade, duty and control branches, race, and Military Occupational Specialty (MOS) for each named individual. Unrestricted. 1 box.

RG 554 Radio Messages, 9/30/1950 - 4/26/1953

<https://catalog.archives.gov/id/7323881>

This series consists of incoming and outgoing radio messages relating to determination of the status of American and United Nations prisoners of war (POW) during and after the Korean War. Lists of liberated prisoners returned to U.S. military control are included. Unrestricted. 1 box.

RG 554 General Subject and Message Files, 1953 - 1957

<https://catalog.archives.gov/id/12404076>

This series contains incoming and outgoing messages that pertain to armistice topics such as prisoners of war (POWs), POW exchanges, displaced civilians, graves registration, and Red Cross matters. Unrestricted. 47 boxes.

RG 38 Case Files of American Prisoners of War During the Korean War, 1952 - 1956

<https://catalog.archives.gov/id/6267130>

This series consists of original and electrostatic copies of dossiers of repatriated American Navy, Marine Corps, and Army prisoners of war (POWs) who were exchanged or returned under the provisions of Articles 109 and 110 of the Geneva Convention. Included also are dossiers of POWs exchanged during the joint United Nations Command and North Korean Operation Little Switch and Operation Big Switch. The records contain military intelligence summaries of interrogations of returned or exchanged servicemen. They provide the details of captures and escapes (dates and locations), interrogations by enemy forces, enemy strategic intelligence information, enemy military maneuvers, war crimes and atrocities, casualties, number of POWs in a camp, the proximity of foreign enemy military personnel (Chinese and Russian), and information relating to treatment, location, and condition of prisoners. The files may also contain psychiatric evaluations, social background history information, and debriefing materials. Some of the dossiers were categorized "special intelligence" because of alleged collaboration with the enemy during captivity. Unrestricted. 48 boxes.

RG 341 Prisoner of War (POW) Debriefing Reports Relating to American Aviation Personnel, 1953 - 1955

<https://catalog.archives.gov/id/1937740>

This series consists of prisoner of war (POW) debriefing reports. The reports cover debriefing sessions of repatriated American POWs who had served in the United States Air Force and were interned by North Korea and/or The People's Republic of China. While many of the POWs were repatriated in 1953 during Operations Big and Little Switch, some POWs held by China were not repatriated until 1955. The reports generally list the POWs name, Air Force service number, home address, unit and base, last mission, and details of capture. The reports may also contain a list of internment dates and POW camps, since many POWs spent time at several camps; as well as details of internment (conditions and treatment). Some reports also contain general intelligence information about North Korea and/or China. Unrestricted. 6 boxes.
